The Silent Reaper.

ZIMMERLY.

Marie Shmoker was born in Switzerland, June 20th, 1852, and was married to Fred Zimmerly, April 20th, 1887, and departed this life, April 26th, 1909. Deceased had for a number of years lived in Pleasant Ridge neighborhood, where she was loved by all. She was quiet and retiring in disposition, yet kind to all. She leaves a husband and many friends to mourn her death. Funeral services were held in Benton church, Tuesday, at 11 a. m., by Elder Gillman Walden, after which the remains were interred in the Benton cemetery to await the coming of the Lord. W.

COLE.

Elsie Caroline Osborn, was born in Davis county, Missouri, September 28, 1836, died in Oregon, Mo., at the home of her son, Ollie M., April 23d, 1909, aged 74 years, 6 months and 25 days. In 1854 the deceased was married to Jesse Cole, of Andrew county, Missouri. Mr. Cole died in 1896. Eight children were born to this union. Three are dead: George, Anna Mary and Lizzie. Five survive: W. L. Cole, Mrs. Carrie McCallum, John Cole, Mrs. Addie McCallum and Ollie M. Cole.

One sister, Mrs. Hale, of St. Joseph, and one brother living in Oklahoma, survive.

There are 15 grand children and 11 great grand children.

Mrs. Cole was a devoted Christian wife and mother. She was noted for her unselfish devotion to others and forgot her own pain in the joy of helping others. "He giveth his beloved sleep." Short services were conducted by Rev. Jas. M. Walton at the home of her son. After services at Fillmore, her remains were laid to rest in Fultz cemetery. W.

CROMER.

Marry Hyde Cromer, was born March 19, 1822, in Wayne county, New York, and died April 19th, 1909, at the family residence six miles north of Oregon, at the age of 87 years and 29 days. She was married to Van Rensselaer Cromer April 17th, 1839, at the old home in New York.

In sympathy with the spirit of the day they started west, stopping near to St. Joseph, Mich., and there for 40 years they toiled, after which they came to Holt county, Missouri, where the father was laid to rest April 25th, 1899.

Eleven children were born to this union, five boys and six girls, two boys and three girls preceded the mother to rest; one brother and five generations of children survive the mother.

At the early age of 13 Mrs. Cromer confessed a Saviour's love and united with the Baptist church of which faith she remained loyal in this life.

Administering to those in need as well as to assist those who pass along the great highway of life, her neighbors and friends as well as the children of the home rise up to call her blessed.

The funeral was held at the residence by the pastor of the United Brethren church of Maitland, Sunday April 18.

The remains were interred in the Mt. Hope cemetery near Mound City beside the father.

Three sons and one daughter and grand children with many friends and neighbors were present to pay their last respect of kindness to the mother and friend. P.

Sunday School Convention.

There will be a convention of the Holt County Sunday School Association at New Point, Saturday and Sunday, May 15 and 16, and from every town, the convention will be an excellent one. Pres. Cook, of the Maryville Normal is to be present. He is one of the best orators in the state. Sec'y, E. E. Lacey, of St. Louis, will be there all through and that fact in itself is enough to insure the success of the convention. A good general program has been planned for both days.

Every body come to New Point and enjoy a treat.

G. W. Murphy, President.

Miss Lena Bortan, Secretary.

TRIED TO BLACKMAIL.

A Denver Barber Charged With Wrong Use of Mail--Attempt to Blackmail.

Charged with having written letters to David Rankin, of Tarkio, and J. B. Markey, of Gilman City, Mo., demanding that they send him $15,000 and $10,000 respectively, on pain of death and destruction of their property, Charles B. Frost, a barber, formerly of Grant City, Mo., was arrested at Denver, Colo., Wednesday of last week. The letters were mailed at Denver April 8 and 13, respectively, and were unsigned. They demanded that the money be sent to Denver and said that death would follow speedily if the demand was not met. Both were in the same handwriting, written in pencil on the same kind of paper.

David Rankin, of Tarkio, Mo., who owns the largest farm in the world, 25,640 acres, all under cultivation, will be 84 years old in May. His land is worth from $75 to $125 an acre. The last inventory of his holdings showed a total valuation of more than $3,000,000.

It takes 700 teams to do his work in the busy season of haying, corn plowing and harvesting. He employs something like 300 men during this season of the year.

An examination of the final statement of a year ago shows astonishing facts. The number of cattle sold was 7,539, bringing $172,520. The number of hogs sold was 8,249, bringing $112,846.

Mr. Rankin is a typical farmer and is of Scotch-Irish descent. He is 6 feet and 2 inches tall and weighs 175 pounds; he wears gold-rimmed eyeglasses, which fasten over his ears; his beard is thick, trimmed evenly and quite gray.

Under the Wheels.

A dispatch reached Miss Rosa Noelsche Wednesday afternoon of this week announcing the death of Floyd Watson which occurred that afternoon at Alliance Nebraska.

The young man was a freight brakeman on the Alliance and Broken Bow division of the Burlington system, and while acting in this capacity, fell between the cars and was so badly mangled that he lived but a few hours.

He was about 25 years old and was well known by the younger set of young farm boys, having worked for John Seyfer and others. He later went to railroading. During February last he was here visiting friends and relatives, John Stroud, living south of this city being an uncle. Misses Hazel Hoffmann and Della Talbot, attended the funeral.

—Friday marked the closing of one more year of school work, for which teacher and pupils were both glad and sorry—glad, for the needed rest from labor they feel, well done. Sorry, for they realize there will be many changes, when school time comes again. Some who were there this term, will perhaps be in other schools next year. The school has certainly been very successful this term. If Jesse Cain continues as he has begun he will be a No. 1 teacher. He is patient, but firm and takes an interest in each individual pupil. The parents and many friends gave a surprise dinner, which was a surprise. There were about 127 in all. A fine dinner was served. After dinner the program, prepared by the children, was carried out. Then came the awarding of prizes. Lillian Hardman received a book for having the greatest number of head marks, and as Maud Hardman and Frances Terry received the same number, each received an ink stand and Curtiss Kneale and Mary Shunk a book each. Alex Hardin and Frances Terry were there every day and tardy but once. Lillian Hardman was present every day and tardy but three times. There were seven graduates, Hazel Crouse, Lester Painter, Catharine Terry, Fred Davis, Edith Hardman, Nellie Kunkel and Myrtle Bender. Out of town visitors were Mrs. J. H. Williams and daughter Ella, Mrs. Will Bragg and son Paul, and Mrs. C. E. Munn. After awarding the prizes Mr. Cain treated the school to candy, nuts and oranges. Mr. Cain has cause to be proud of his first year's work. NERO.

HIGH IN CIVILIZATION'S SCALE.

Unknown Peoples of America Who Have Perished Utterly.

Between the region occupied of old by the Aztecs and the realm far to the south over which the Incas ruled lies an immense stretch of territory, a thousand miles long and 800 wide, where the remains of unknown and wonderful civilizations are being discovered, says a writer in Van Norden's Magazine. This region extends from the northern boundaries of Peru to the southern limits of Costa Rica. In one section alone along the coast of Ecuador six entirely unknown civilizations were recently brought to light by Prof. Marshall H. Saville, and a vast collection of relics has been brought to New York. This collection is to be the nucleus of a great American museum, which will represent the history of ancient peoples who attained an extraordinarily high degree of civilization, yet whose very existence has been hitherto lost in antiquity.

The famed marble chairs of Rome at its zenith were not more symmetrical or beautifully carved than those of one of these unknown civilizations. No pottery of any other ancient race was more delicately patterned than that found in vast quantities, as numerous almost as pebbles, on the sites where these extinct peoples dwelt. Their cloth was of truly marvelous weave; in beauty of design, richness of color and fineness of texture no fabric of to-day surpasses it.

MAKES KNOTTY POINT IN LAW.

Owners of Property Have Right to Fugitive Flight of Airships.

A law framed thousands of years ago by the ancient Romans, and the only one bearing on the subject, may have to be amended or wholly nullified before airships go shooting about through space at their own sweet will. This important fact was brought out at a meeting of aeronauts in London. At present nobody has the right to fly across occupied land. The world is governed by the ancient Roman law, "Usque ad Coelum." It means that every landowner has a right to the air above his head as far up as he chooses to go, and can get an injunction to restrain anyone from flying through it. So far nobody has attempted to put the law in force. It would be most uncomfortable, not to say disastrous, for a farmer suddenly to emerge from his barn or smokehouse and pepper one's airship with bullets. The fact that the aeronaut from his lofty perch could not be expected to see the "No Trespass" sign might not prove a mitigating circumstance with the rural magistrate.

Where She'd Wear It.

Somebody sent this to the society editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and made affidavit that it really happened.

Here it is: They were out at an afternoon card party. A stout woman dropped a card to the floor. "Would you be so kind as to pick up that card for me?" she inquired of the little woman at her right.

"Certainly," said the accommodating woman at the right, picking up the card.

"You see," explained the stout woman, "I've got on a brand new $50 corset, and I'm afraid I'll strain it if I lean over."

"Hum!" commented the other woman, enviously. "If I had a $50 corset I'd wear it on the outside. I really would."

Strength of Money.

When we consider the amount of wear and tear to which a bank note is subjected, we ought to be able to realize its physical strength. In a recent experiment sheets were drawn at random from piles of paper weighing 14 pounds to the ream. Each sheet was halved and weighed, and each half was folded double when tested. One, offering 61 square inches, stood a strain of 100 pounds. The same-sized sheet, 16 pounds to the ream, stood a strain of over 300 pounds. The average results of Crane paper, 14 pounds to the ream, with sizing, were a perpendicular strain of 3 1/3 pounds to the square inch, and a transverse strain of 4 1/4 pounds. Pretty nearly as tough as shoe leather.

How to Get Thin.

When one has just begun to acquire superfluous flesh complete abstinence from sweets and starches, a moderate amount of food at all times, and daily exercise either indoors or out will effect a cure. The effort, however, must be persistent, and the watchfulness must continue even after the desired weight has been reached. Spasmodic efforts either at diet or exercise will be absolutely without lasting results. When one's weight has crept far beyond the normal amount the restraint in diet must be more strenuous and the exercise more violent.—Harper's Weekly.

Some Singular Wills.

One of the most singular wills ever recorded was that of a British sailor, who requested his executors to give his wife a shilling to buy hazelnuts, as she had always preferred cracking them to mending his stockings. More subtle, however, was the sarcasm of a will proved in 1830, in which a wife was left $2,500, but was only to enjoy it after her death in order that "she may be buried suitably as my widow." A French merchant bequeathed a large fortune to a woman of his acquaintance to show his gratitude for her refusal to marry him 20 years before.
